Organizer:

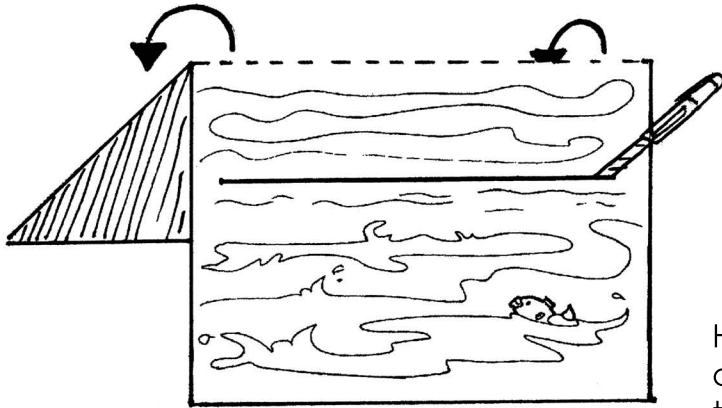

Hello!
What's going on here?

Fold this side part backwards and stick it on the back of the ... this part. ...
with a strengthened front.

Then bend this part forwards, thus making a card

Please write your details (Who are we?, Who should come? What are we doing? Starting and finishing times between the illustrations.

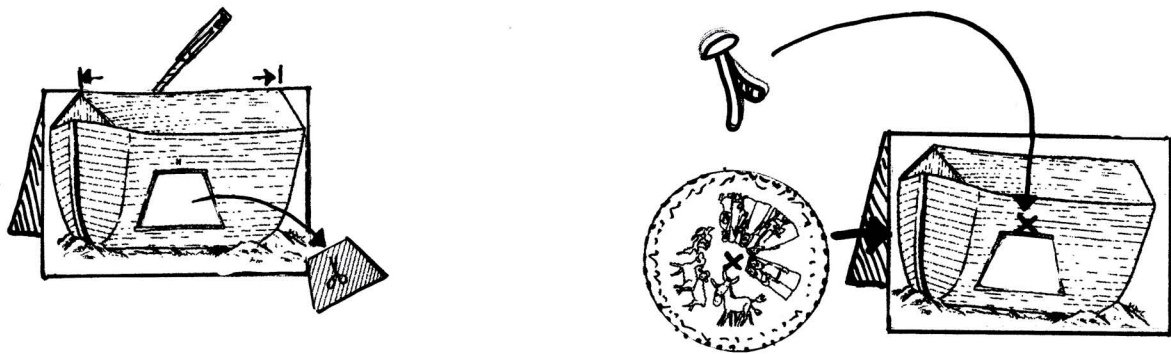

Have the page coloured, folded, with a cutter cut the lines, cut out the ark and the mountain, pull it as far as possible through the slit. Stick the „waterpage“ from inside to the three edges making a bag through which the mountain can disappear when pulled and pushed.

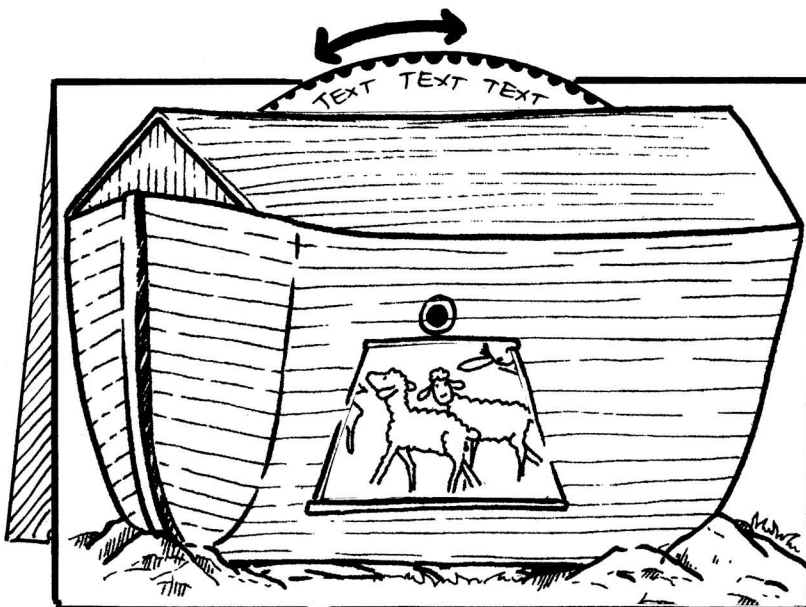

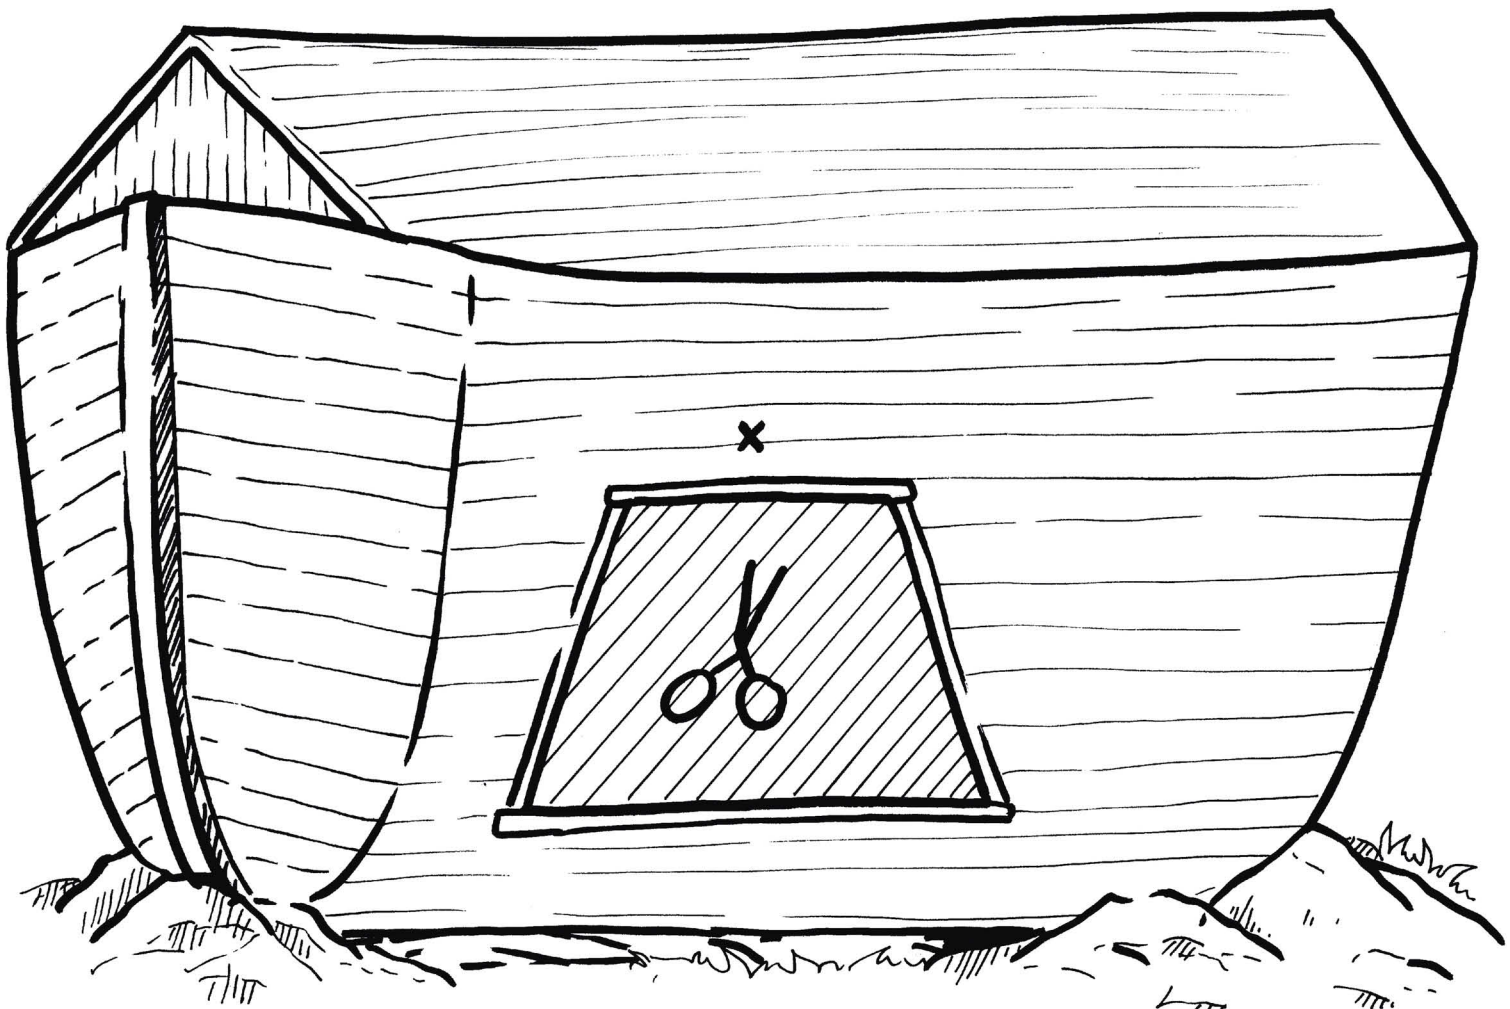

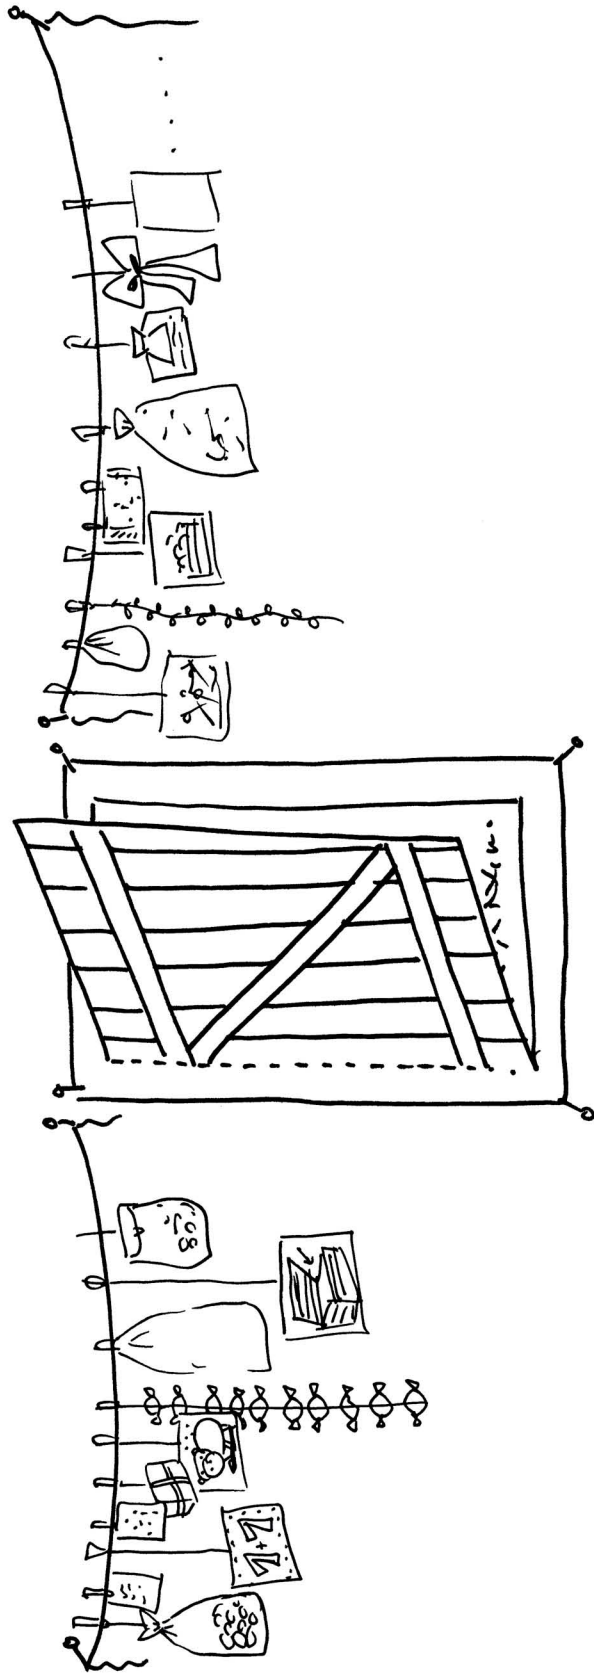

Have all the pages coloured, fold the ark, make the cut in the roof.
Cut out the doors.

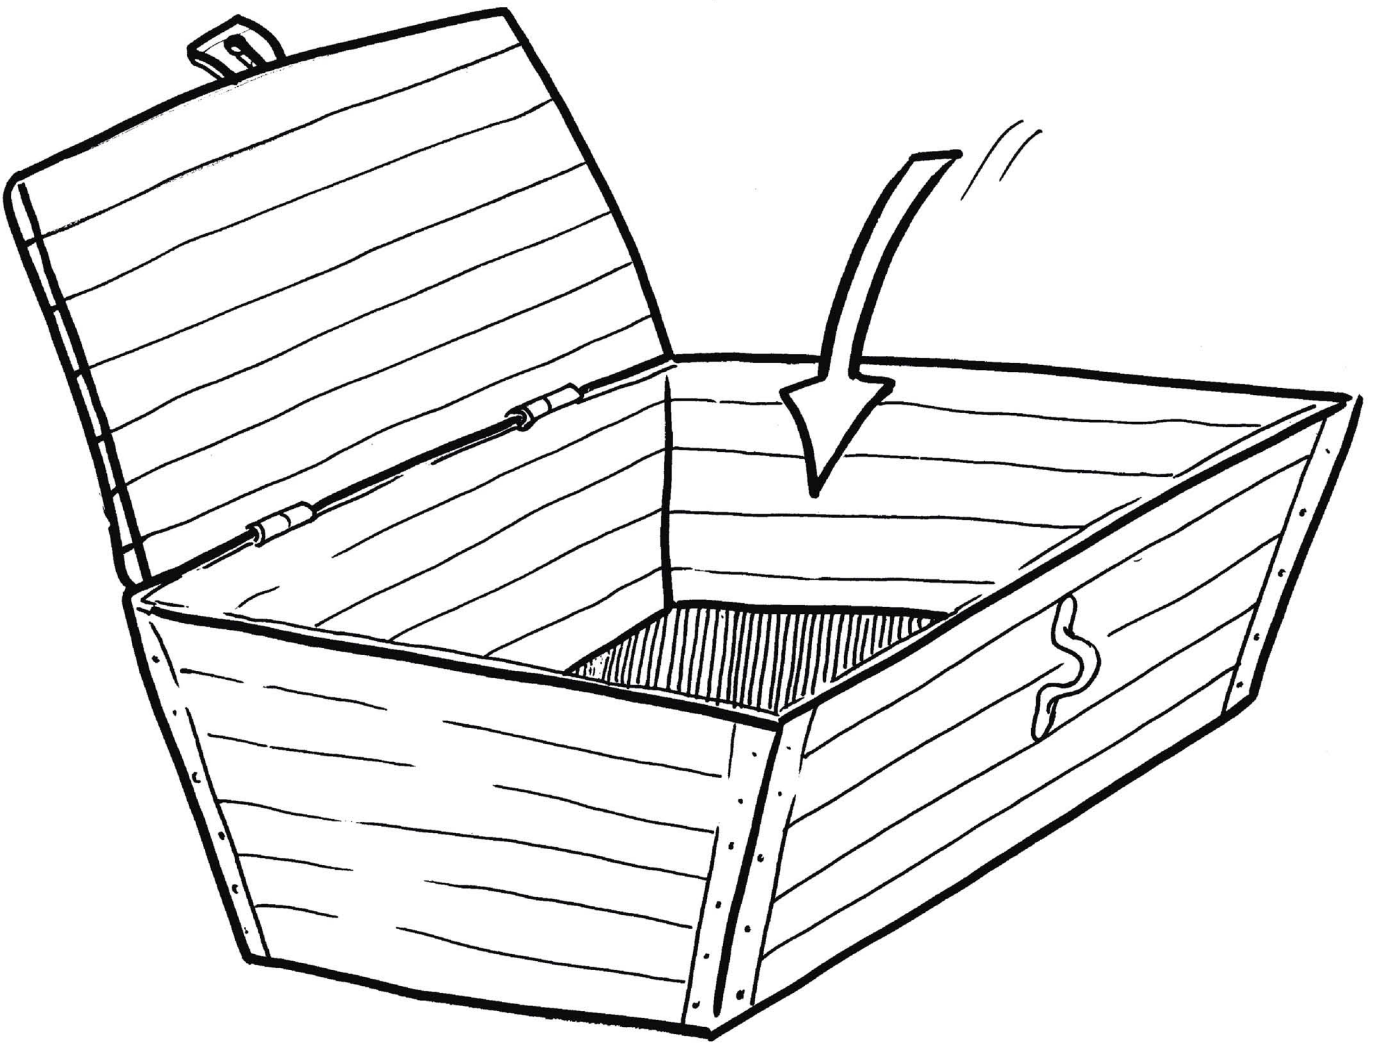

Use zigzag scissors to cut out the dial, make a mark with scissors or pen at the cross marks.

Fix the dial between the ark pages with a clip.

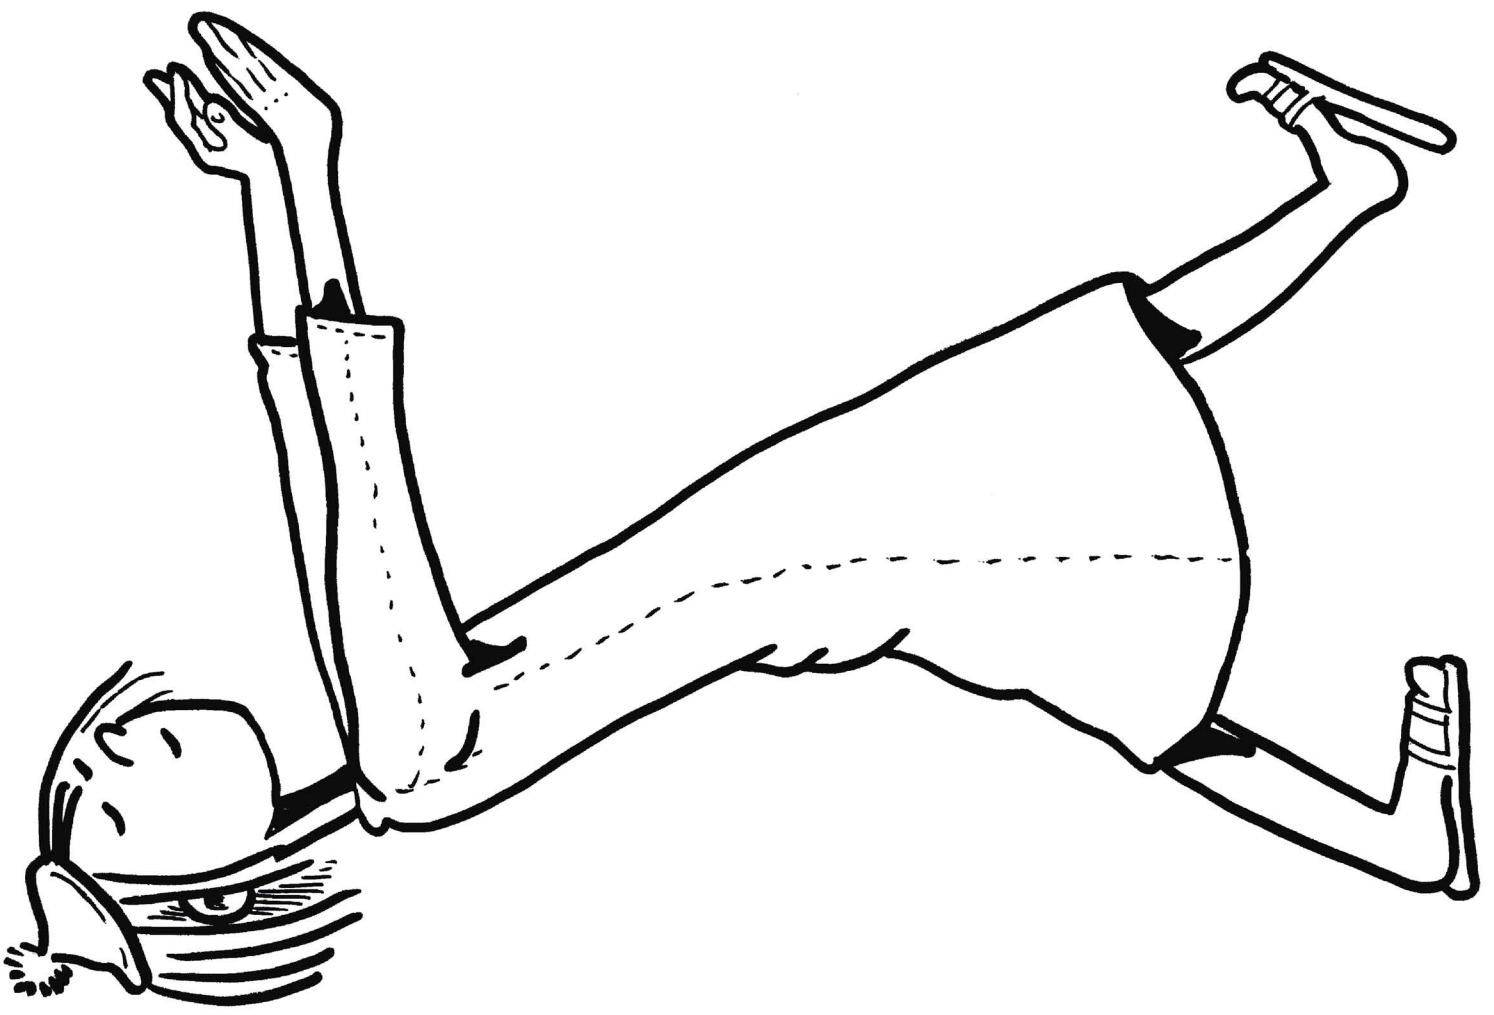

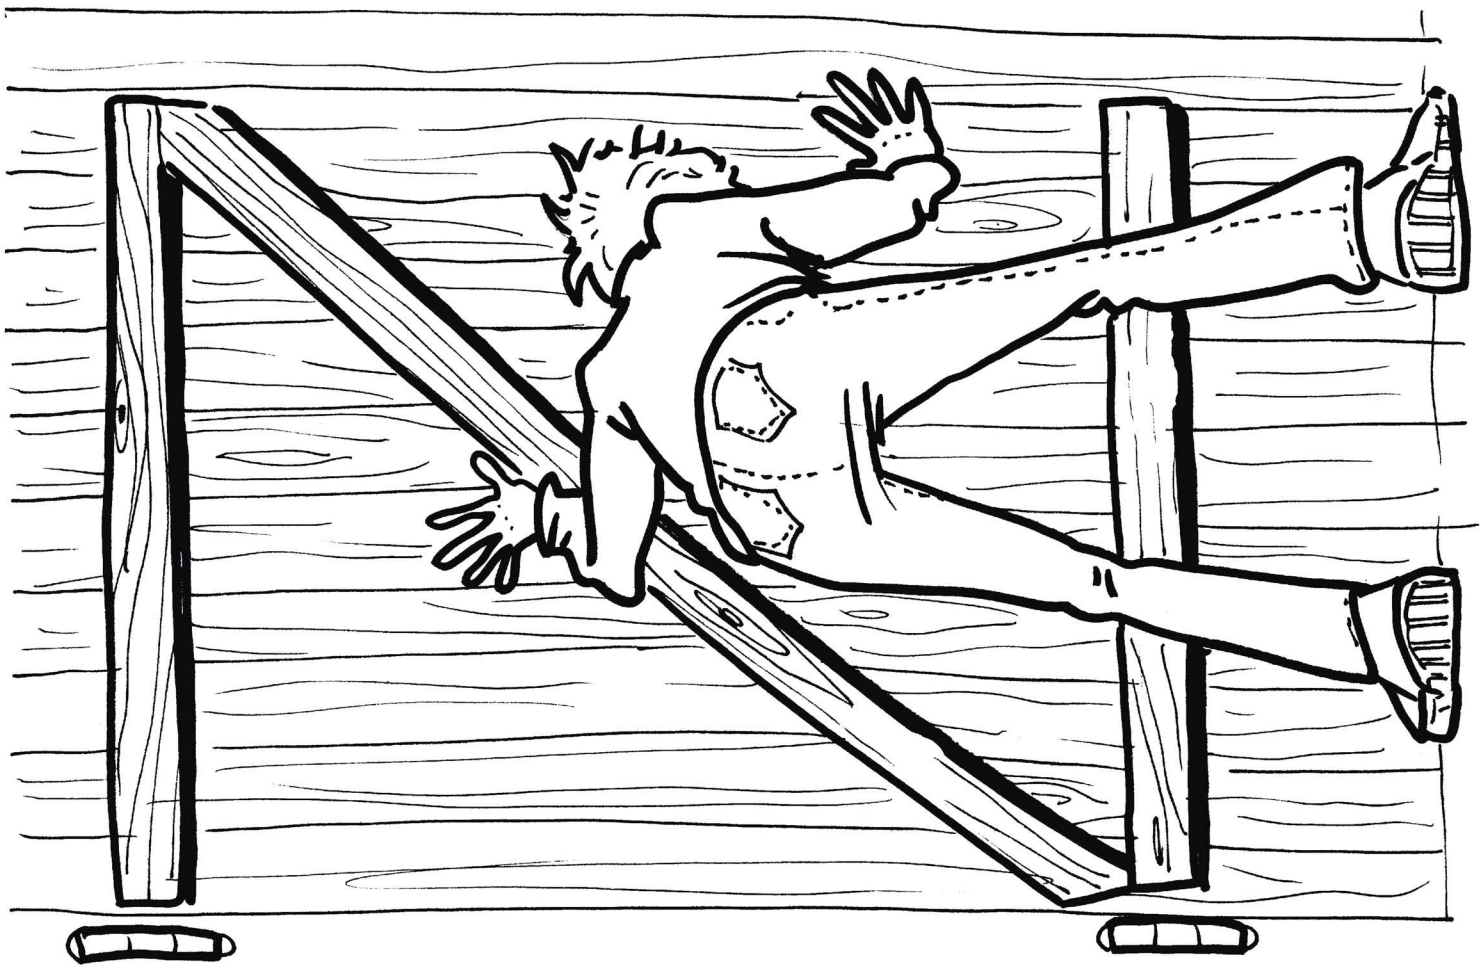

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

Of course Noah and his family didn't only bring food into the ark, but many other things, too.
They needed blankets and topes and
.... what else?
Now you must help to pack and find out as quickly as possible what is required.

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

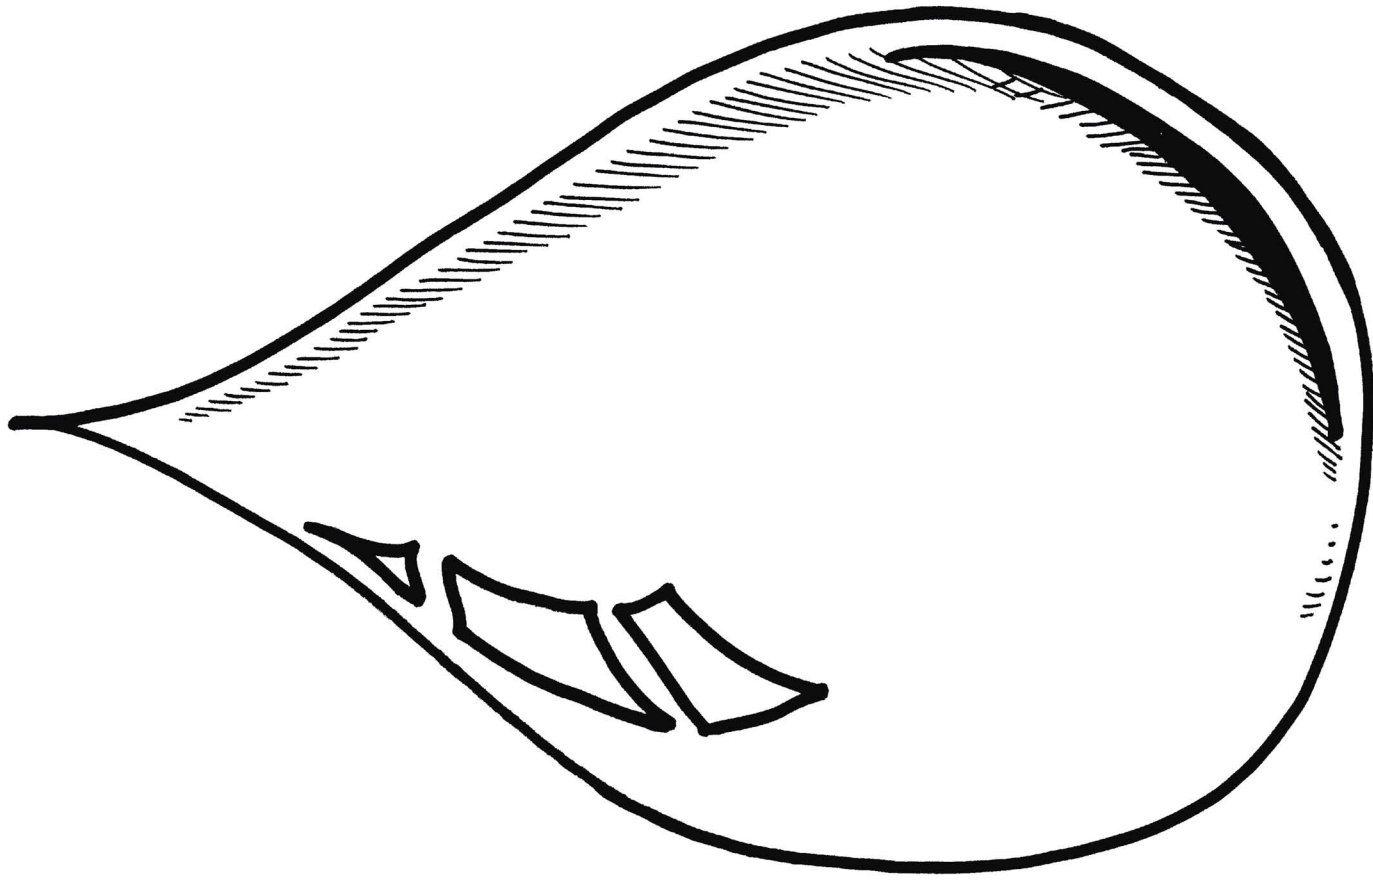

Noah and his family had to do many things automatically. It was surely very dark in many corners of the ark. Who among you is quite sure of yourself with eyes closed? Can you find your way around?

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

There were surely some mix ups in the ark, many a confusion, when you could only see the contours of the others in the dark.
God always sees each single one specially and never mixes anybody up.
How well do you know others? Would you recognize a person's face when looking through a keyhole?

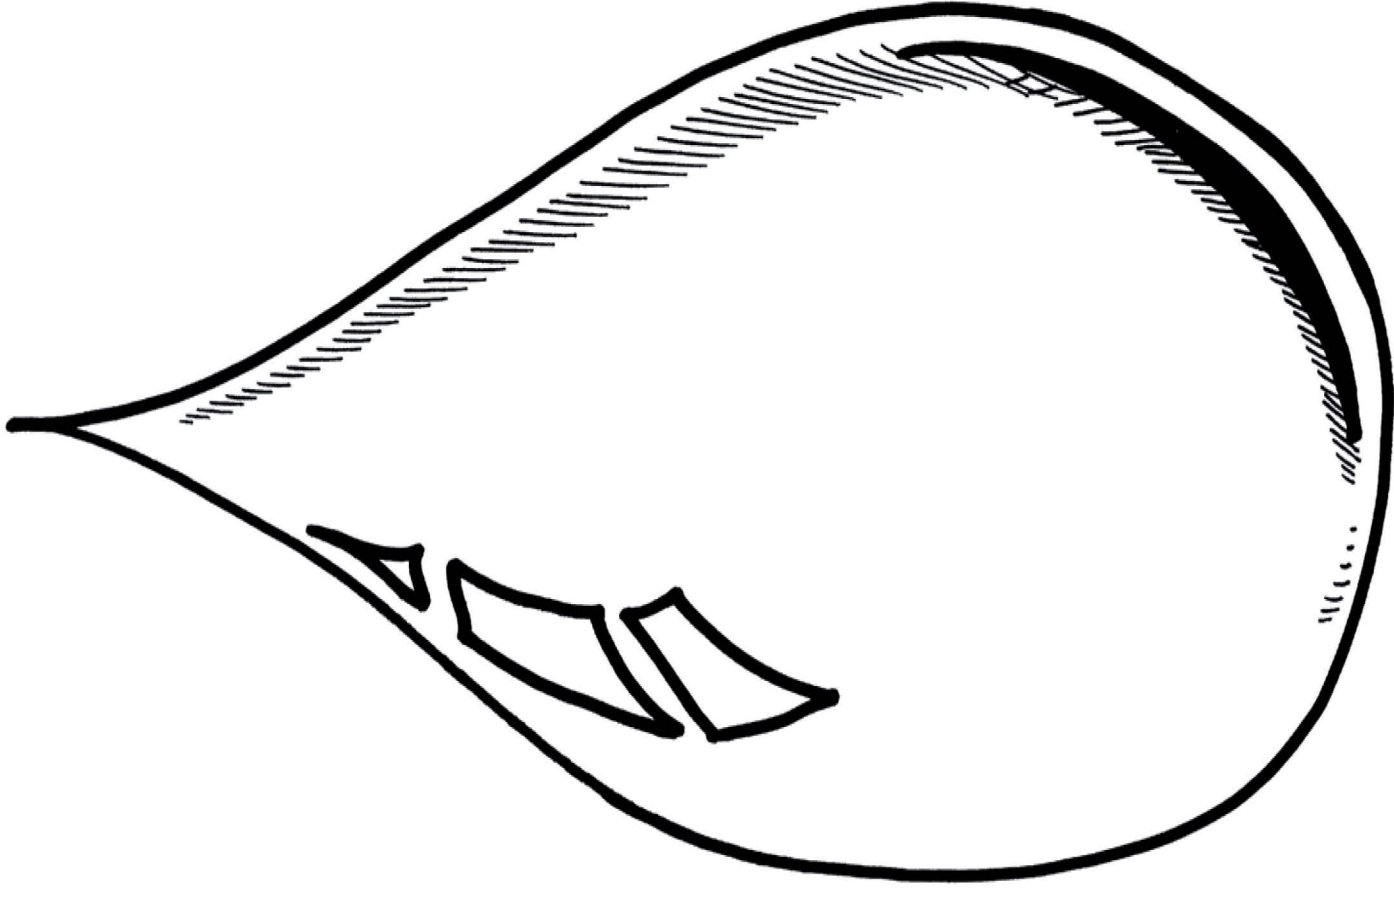

Water, water, water,
nothing but water on
the earth and the ark
swimming on top. What comes into your mind
when you think of water?

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

How great - because God had ordered every-rything so cleverly and that Noah did everything that God told
him to, the ark floated
dry on the enormous
flood.

They didn't need to get water, but now you should get water, it's a competition!

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

Fruit and vegetables are important for health. Noah and his family did not only have to take enough food for the animals, but also enough vitamins for themselves. Fruit can be dried and kept for a long time. Look for the fruit and vegetables that are hidden around you.

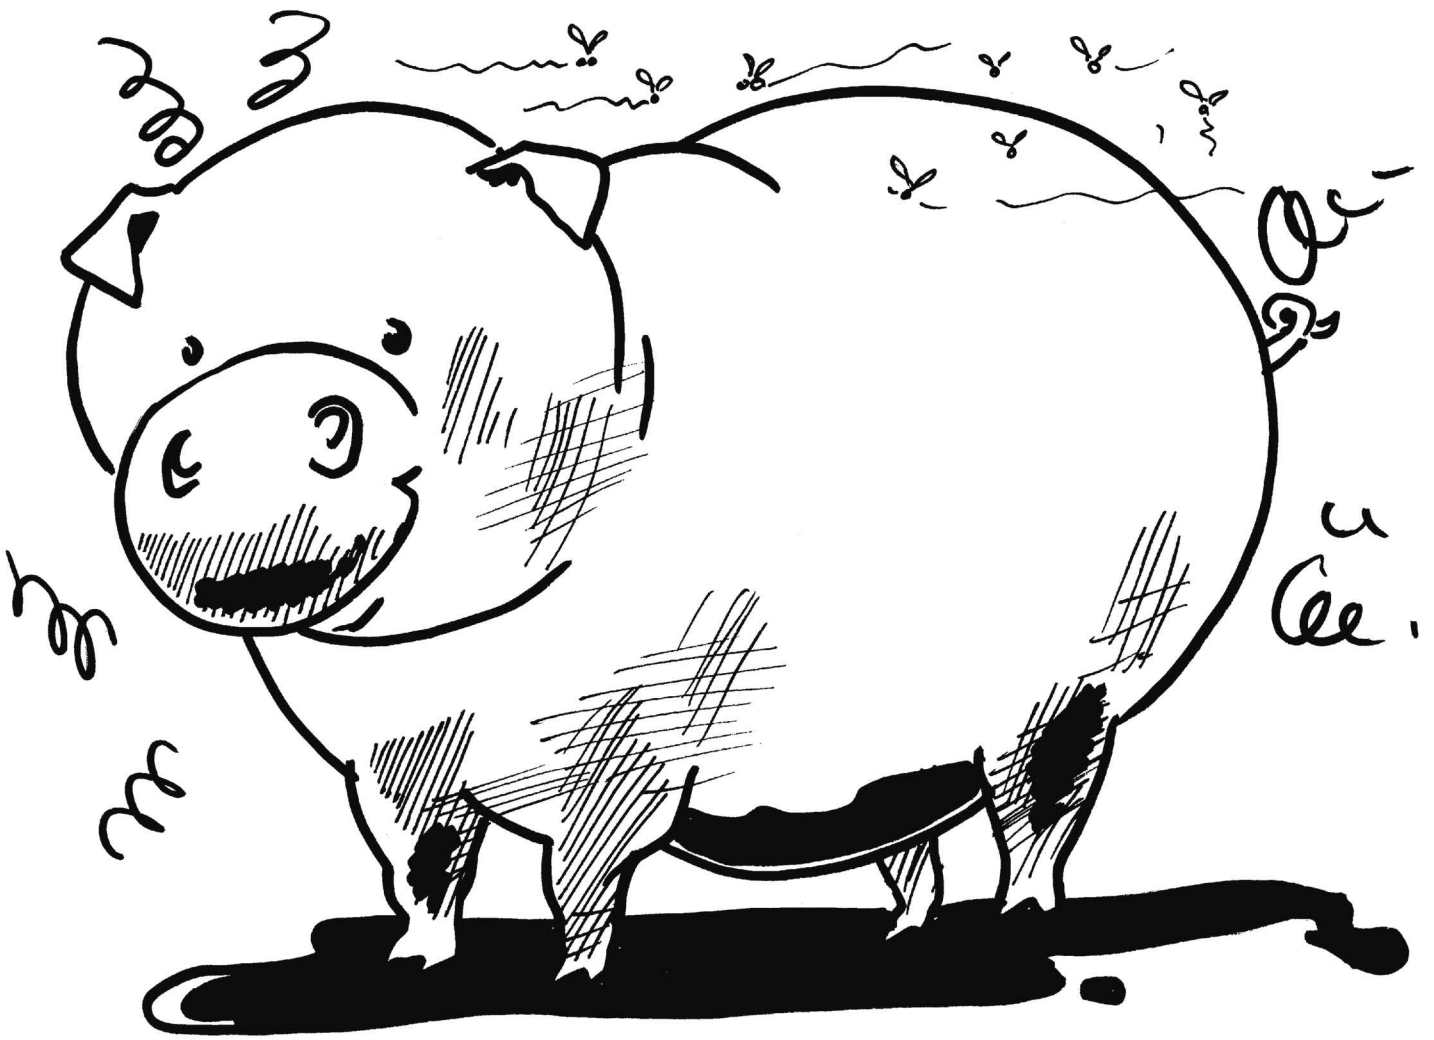

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

The many small animals surely built
cosy nests in heaps of hay or straw.
And when after a long time the doors
of the ark stood open, they crawled
out from all the corners.
Find the animals that hid here. Who can find the most animals?

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

Do you know which food belongs to which animal?
This was very important for Noah.
He had to load into the ark
enough food for all the animals so that none went hungry. Now you must find out which animal and food belong together.

Fold here and stick the two side parts together, then make a hole at the top and hang it up.

My goodness, there must have been a smell with all the animals that were at home in the ark! Did you know that your nose can get used to bad smells?
How well can you smell?
Who can find out what is in the little tins or are there the same smells in some tins?
